Fire in Syracuse.
By Associated Press.]

UTICA, (N. Y.) March 14.—A great fire is raging at Syracuse. The Utica department has been called upon for aid. It is feared much of the business portion of the city will burn. The Vanderbilt House, Montgomery Flats, Holden Block and several large buildings are on fire.

SYRACUSE, (N. Y.) March 14.—The Journal, office in which is located the Associated Press day wire, is on fire; all the telegraph instruments have been removed from the building. A high wind is blowing and the fire spreading rapidly. The fire started at 6:10 o'clock this morning.

SYRACUSE, (N. Y.) March 14.—Two large fires are raging. One started in the wholesale district at 6 A. M., beginning at Tranvier and Fayette streets, and destroyed every store on the south, including the six-story Hogan block, new Fay block, Loomis block, and other buildings. At 7:30 o'clock a fire broke out in the Roscoe wholesale brick fruit house in another section and quickly spread to the adjoining buildings east and west. It is now confined to the Vanderbilt house on the west. The Journal is a total loss. The Yates block is burning with a high wind. The Montgomery Flats are blazing the entire block in length and six stories high. The fire at 9:30 o'clock is raging fiercely. Assistance has been asked from Utica, Oswego, Baldwinsville and Fulton.

SYRACUSE, March 14.—The Montgomery street fire is not yet under control. The Condee House barns are burned and the fire is getting into the Condee house. The entire Montgomery Flat is a mass of flames.

At 6 o'clock A. M. a fire was discovered in the cigar manufactory in the Hogan block. It instantly spread to the store of M. P. Walsh, hardware, and Cahill Brothers' bakery in the same block. Within ten minutes every floor and the whole front of the building was a mass of flames. At 6:30 the roof fell and shortly after the rear and front walls fell. It was but a short space of time after the breaking out of the flames in the cigar store before the old U. S. Hotel at the corner west of Fayette and Franklin streets was being consumed. The boarders all escaped.

On the east side of the Hogan block was a three-story brick and double front building, owned by John Holliday. The store next to Cahill Bros. was unoccupied, but the other store was used by wholesale and retail dealers in teas, coffees and spices. Justin Zuburt occupied the next building to the Holliday building, as a cigar manufactory. At 10 A. M., for lack of water, the building had caught fire and will undoubtedly be consumed.

From the Hogan block the flames leaped across the street, catching the Osgood and Tracy block. This building was three stories high and was soon destroyed. Simultaneously when the flames were discovered in the Tracy block, they caught in the blocks east of the Newell block, which were totally destroyed. The Ayres block was occupied above the ground floor by sleeping rooms. The Seneca House, which adjoined it on the north, was a three-story brick, double front, and was full of guests, all of whom got away safely before the flames reached them.

The ravages of the flames were stopped by the north wall between this block and the Mansion House. The upper floors of the Newell block were occupied as flats by five or six families, and little, if any, property was saved from these floors. The Fay and Golden building, a brownstone front on the east of the Kauffman block, was occupied on the ground floor by the Syracuse Harness Supply Co. and the Black Diamond Steel Co., and the upper floors were occupied by a printing establishment and individual dwelling rooms. The alley way stopped the progress of the flames at this point. The United States hotel on the southeast corner west of Fayette and Franklin streets was run by J. Vaeth. On the south of this hotel the fire was stopped by a brick building adjoining.

11 A. M.—Montgomery street is practically under control. The walls of the Montgomery flats have fallen and all danger to the St. Paul Cathedral and Grand Opera House block is passed. The Condee House stables are still burning, but the fire cannot get into the Condee House. The Vanderbilt house is scorched somewhat but otherwise is all right.

The Cook block was soon on fire, and the flames communicated to the Journal building adjoining it. By 8 o'clock the west wall of the Cook block fell onto the Journal building, crushing through three floors down to the press room, and soon the flames licked up the Journal building, and the four-story structure with its contents and valuable plant was in ruins. In the meantime the flames were working fiercely eastward and the magnificent Montgomery flats, extending from Railroad street to Fayette were burned. The fire was under control at 2:30 P. M., but the department is still hard at work putting out the last of it.

By 9 o'clock it seemed as though the whole city would burn up. The wind blew like a hurricane, carrying flames, sparks and smoke far and wide. The Myers block was in the greatest danger, and it was only by superhuman efforts of the firemen that it was saved. Adjoining Montgomery on Fayette street was the Condee House and barns. Condee removed his horses but none too soon, and before long the entire area from the Vanderbilt House was burning like a furnace.

Several firemen had narrow escapes from falling walls. The wires were a source of danger and annoyance and hindered the progress of the firemen.

The local fire department was aided by a couple of steamers of the New York Central railroad company which were located just west of the Vanderbilt when the second fire broke out. Assistance was called for from Utica, Oswego and other places. One company of Oswego, with a hose company, arrived about 9:30, having made the run in thirty-five minutes. The Utica steamers, with the hose company, arrived soon aiter and both did good work. The total loss is estimated at over $2.000,000; insured at about half that amount.

Insane Asylum Burned.
By Associated Press.]

NASHVILLE (Tenn.),—March 14.—The beautiful Central Insane Asylum, seven miles from this city, is almost a mass of ruins. Beneath it are the charred bodies of half a dozen unfortunate inmates. In the out houses are huddled the poor, demented creatures who were formerly inmates.

A fire was discovered at 10:15 last night. It started from an unknown cause in the western main wing. When first seen it reached from the ground and the first and second stories were cut off. In a moment an alarm was given and 400 inmates were thrown into wild commotion. There were 28 men in the wing where the fire caught and 22 were quickly removed to the main hall, the other six being left to their fate behind impassable walls. The city was telephoned to for aid, but Chief Carrell of the Fire Department could not be found and his subordinates refused to move without orders. Finally after two hours delay, the chief was found and he, with two engines, left for the scene of the disaster. In the meantime the wing collapsed and the main building was on fire. The inmates were made frantic, and beginning to break from the guards, scattered like frightened animals over the surrounding country. The fire engines arrived at 2:15 o'clock and began work. Previously, the inmates, servants and guards rendered their service with buckets and succeeded in holding the fire in check to some extent.

Those burned to death were J. S. Johns, J. Bert Dexter, Blue Preston, John Nelly, W. H. Beastry, and B. T. Howell.

At 3:15 o'clock, the inmates who had been huddled for several hours in the yard, were returned to the east wing. About twenty-five escaped, the majority of whom are harmless. At this moment the west wing is demolished and about half of the main building. Dangerous lunatics were kept locked in the west wing. At 3:30 o'clock the fire was under control. It is impossible to estimate the loss, but all is fully insured.

Bark Wrecked.
By Associated Press.]

NEW YORK, March 14.—The bark reported ashore last night on Romers Shoals, proves to be the Umberto Prince from Rosirio. During the night the sea continued to rise, and about 9 o'clock this morning the bark keeled over. The life saving crew went to her assistance, but a big sea prevented the boats from getting near the bark. Two revenue cutters were sent to her assistance, and the use of the rocket apparatus may be successful.

Because the mother wouldn't listen to his suit he killed her.

PUNISHMENT AT PARISH PRISON.

Assassins of Hennessy Shot or Hung.

New Orleans in a Frenzy of Excitement.

Enraged Over the Verdict.
By Associated Press.]

NEW ORLEANS, March 14.—The meeting at the Clay statue adjourned to the Parish prison, which was soon surrounded by several thousand people. The doors were forced open, and it is known that five or six of the Scilian assassins were either shot or hanged.

LATER—All the prisoners on trial yesterday for the assassination of Chief of Police Hennessey were killed to-day except Incardonia, Matriance and Marchesi, the boy. The killed are: Manuel Politiz, Pietro Monastorio, Antonio Marchesi and Antonio Bagnette.

The crowds about the Clay statue this morning brought to mind very forcibly a September day of sixteen years ago. Ten o'clock had not yet struck and a vast multitude was already congregated on Canal street, filling up the space from curb to curb on each of the boulevards. At just one stroke of 10 o'clock a shout went up from the people stationed at St. Charles street, and a number of gentlemen, among whom were W. S. Parkerson, J. Wickliffe and others who signed the call came forward. There were 3,000 people within earshot, and more could be seen struggling, pushing and running here and there on neutral ground. Street cars were unable to pass through and vehicles of all descriptions were halted.

Parkerson spoke first. He said that once before he had appeared before the people in grand mass meeting assembled to discuss matters of vital interest to the community, and again he faces the people of New Orleans to denounce the infamous act which was consequent upon the most revolting crime in the criminal annals of the community. That act was found in the jury murder trial, and that crime was, as everybody knows, the foul assassination of Chief Hennessey.

After the speeches the indignant crowd of 2,000 persons started for the parish prison, which they reached at 10:30 o'clock.

After a slight resistance, the jail surrendered and the citizens rushed in and killed eleven of the nineteen who were indicted for killing Chief Hennessey, as follows: Manuel Politz, Pietro Monastro, Antonio Scaffidi, Joseph Macheca, Antonio Marchesi, Antonio Bagnetto, Frank Romero, Jim Caruso, Rocco Gerachi, Charles Trahino, and Comitez.

After the assassinators had been put to death, Parkerson addressed the crowd, urging them to return to their homes or respective places of business without further demonstration. Joe Macheca had a pistol and shot Sergeant Herron in the neck, inflicting a slight wound. Politz is hanging to a lamp post at Treme and Stan Street; Bagnetto to a tree in front of the prison, and the others were shot in their cells.

When the citizens committee had completed its work at the parish prison it disbanded for the day. A meeting will be held to-night to consider what further action, if any, shall be taken. The committee was composed of the better class of citizens and business men, who were satisfied the safety of the community demanded vigorous action.

Death to Every One.
By Associated Press.]

AUGUSTA, (Ga.) March 14.—Three men lost their lives in a bloody quarrel near Macey last evening, and a white woman in trying to save her husband's life had a narrow escape. Harry Smith was a young planter living near Macey, and was married only a few months ago. He had among his employes a negro named Boyd Hatton, whom he had to discharge. While Hatton was preparing to leave last night, Smith went down to his cabin to settle with him. Hatton met his approach with a discharge from a shotgun. Smith drew his revolver and fired, striking Hatton in the shoulder. Bill Hatton appeared to aid his brother, and the next shot from Smith struck Bill in the heart, and the next after that struck Boyd Hatton in the abdomen. Smith fell in a swoon from a wound. Boyd ran up, and securing Smith's revolver shot him, and was about to fire another shot when his arm was held back by the young bride. The desperate negro soon died from his own wounds.

Goodman of Boston as President of the company. When Ramond was notified of the change he fell unconscious to the floor. He was removed to his home where he now lies in a critical condition.

It is said he was stricken with appoplexy. Ramond was formerly secretary of the company, and by the terms of the new agreement is to be vice-president at a nominal salary.

County Roads.

Few taxpayers have any idea of the amount of county money that goes into the repair and maintenance of roads. No one can estimate the value of good highways. Nothing is a surer measure of the development of a people. Good roads build up towns, save wear and tear of vehicles and horses, enables the producer to get to market with his wares at times when they are bringing the highest prices and in every way conduce to the comfort, pleasure and profit of living.

But it must be apparent to all that something is wrong with a system which constantly absorbs large sums of money and yet does not accomplish the desired results. Every month bills are paid for work which the first soaking rain will almost entirely obliterate. If our authorities would establish a plan which would build up and thoroughly drain the piece of road paid for, even it is only a rod at a time, they would in the course of a few years have something to show. As it is now there are several roads in the county almost impassable.

The lumber bill of the county is a large one, and it will continue to grow as long as lumber is used where stone and iron could be put in. The first cost might be greater, but taxes would be reduced in the end.

In many places the roads are made too wide. A narrower one would be just as useful and the expense of keeping up a wider bank be dispensed with. A wise economy in all such affairs are very much needed just now.

While it might be hard to point out an item in the monthly bills that was wrong, yet the difference between good management and not so good tells quickly in such things. We have no reflections to make on our County Board, for they are above the average, but the tendency of the times is what we would like to see changed.

An Idle Fear.

One of the objections urged against inviting settlers to Nevada is that the farmer cannot get a market if he raises anything. We have always urged the contrary, for no railroad company would refuse to transport produce out of a country when the matter was properly brought to their attention. We have a dozen cases in point at the present time.

The railroads are hauling ores from Austin to Salt Lake, and also from Eureka to Salt Lak and other points at very fair rates, thus bringing new life into those camps. Nery reasonable rates were always made to the Reno Reduction Works. During the last six months low rates were made in hay to San Francisco, and Lovelocks and Reno farmers sold many tons that would have been a drug on the market otherwise.

Yesterday's Silver State says:

"A chance for the farmers of Paradise, those having grain stored away, is given by the Central Pacific Railroad Company to ship either to San Francisco or Port Costa for the sum of $50 per car. Heretofore the rate on grain has been $60. Ranchers should be able to ship their grain at these rates."

If the people have freight to ship, the present policy of the S. P. Co. is to get the business and help the State, and no one need fear to raise whatever is wanted by any one at a fair price.

BRUNER has opened his defense against the Examiner's charges. Judge Armstrong testifies that Bruner told him on Tuesday that the Examiner reporters had a trap set for him on the police bill. Other evidence changes the look of things. The Examiner is hounding him hard. Mr. Bruner has many friends in Reno who will be glad to see him clear his record.

A FRENCHMAN has started to walk from Paris to Moscow on stilts, He is probably a peasant from the marshes of the Landes who has been on stilts all his life, and feels more at home on them than with his feet on the ground.

POPULAR PLAGIARISM.

An Offense Which Is Very Often Committed Unconsciously.

A preacher of New York has been accused of plagiarizing from a brother in the pulpit two sentences which he introduced into one of his sermons recently, and considerable fuss is being made about the affair. This charge of plagiarism, says the Boston Traveller, is being made very frequently against writers of late. There surely never has been a time when so many authors have been accused of stealing from others of their craft as to-day. We have no reason to believe that they are less honest than they used to be, and there surely must be some reason for this curious state of things. This reason may be found in the fact that the world is rapidly growing old; it has, by the way, been growing old for a good many years.

It is only within a few years since we discovered that mother earth had, with feminine unscrupulousness, deceived us basely with regard to her age. Consequently new ideas are scarce; our ancestors gleaned the field of originality, and left us a rich legacy of thought which we have both consciously and unconsciously appropriated as our own. Besides, the human mind as it advances by the process of evolution, becoming more penetrative and absorbing, seizes upon ideas spontaneously, as it were, and not at mental volition of the thinker, and is frequently deluded into thinking that these ideas are self-generated.

It is a familiar fact that one may unconsciously plagiarize, not only the thoughts that one hears expressed, but the very words that give them expression. It is almost impossible to trace the subtle workings of the mind of the highly developed and sensitive individual, susceptible to the most delicate impressions. There are many minds so highly cultured and so susceptible to such impressions that they are almost clairvoyant. Indeed, it is not at all improbable that as we advance in civilization clairvoyance will become one of the higher faculties of the educated man. In the case of the New York minister, who has been accused of plagiarism, it is probable that, though he may have appropriated the words of another, he did so unconsciously, and might, therefore, not be condemned or censured for it.

WOMEN IN JAPAN.

Will the Philadelphia Quakeress Receive the Treatment Here Described?

Like the Chinese, and in fact every other Asiatic race, the Japanese entertain no respect for women, whom they regard as creatures of inferior intelligence, resembling brutes in being, without a soul. Thus it is almost impossible to bring any untraveled Japanese to comprehend the deference which the men of civilized nations pay to women. The latter, in his eyes, are solely fitted to act as the servants—nay, even as the slaves—of the stronger sex. Seldom, if ever, is the wife permitted to sit at table with her husband, no matter how high her rank may be, and when admitted to his presence she is forced by etiquette to approach in the same manner as the domestics, namely, on all fours, with repeated prostrations. Imagine a young and delicately nurtured American girl, such as, for instance, the fair Quakeress of Philadelphia, who has always been accustomed to the most thorough deference and courtesy, thrown for the first time among a set of men such as the untraveled friends of her Japanese husband—men who are devoid of every feeling, not alone of civilized respect for her sex, but even of the most elementary notions of civilized decency. Anybody who has lived among the Japanese, as I have, writes a New York Tribune correspondent—not as mere tourist under the tutelage of an interpreter, but in direct contact and understanding their language—will bear me out when I assert that it is impossible for a white woman to live among the natives in Japan without having every feeling of womanly respect and delicacy outraged and, in course of time, completely blunted.

RANK AMONG ACTORS.

Fine Distinctions of Etiquette Observed in the Green-Room.

There is no place under heaven in which hierarchical grades are so rigidly established as in the dancers' green-room at the European opera-houses. The star, says the Chicago News, bears exactly the same relation to the subjects as a queen does to the ladies of the court, and the subjects the same relation to the coryphees as, say, the ladies of the bedchamber to the dressers of her Majesty. The quadrille is a mob of novices having no rank to speak of.

Were a subscriber to pit or box tier, who has his entree to the green-room, engaged in a conversation in the wings with a member of the quadrille, and a coryphee to come up, the former would have to go away. The same etiquette would be observed by a coryphee if a subject came up; and if the star deigned to speak to the gentleman the subject would be expected to fall back in an attitude which would express the deep sense she felt of the honor done her by the star in deigning to address the admirer of the subject.

A star would think herself called upon to resent being invited to dine with an inferior member of the corps de ballet unless her leave were first asked. The etiquette would be to ask her what members it might be agreeable for her to meet, and whether, if she did not desire to make a choice herself, it might be agreeable for M'd'lle Such-a-One to be invited? Nor would it be thought rude if she made a choice excluding the danseuse so named. Subjects stand in a relative position toward coryphees. But young ladies of the quadrille should be only asked to meet each other.

Lifting the Hat.

In Paris the custom of gentlemen removing their hats upon meeting female acquaintances is falling into "innocuous desuetude." Many gentlemen now just touch the brim of the hat in military fashion when meeting a lady, and it is accepted as being good form.

Matrimonial Contrasts.

The longer a man is married the more he appreciates the unselfishness of woman; the longer a woman is married, the more she appreciates the selfishness of man.—Somerville Journal.

JOTTINGS.

A good motto for the poaching sealers would be: "Come early and avoid the Rush." Lunch from 11 A. M. to 2 P. M. at Jake Becker's.

Teacher—Freddy, how is the earth divided? Between them that's got it and them that wants it. Board at the Riverside Hotel and you will not want the earth.

That's different—"Why is Tom Fostor so popular?" "S-sh! He'll overhear you." "I don't care if he does." "Well I do. He'll listen to catch my answer, and I don't know." The Arcade is a quiet place for a nice Sunday dinner.

Minister—My dear brethern, in the warm, oppressive weather I can excuse a little drowsiness during my sermon; but I do wish you would try and keep awake while the collection is being taken up. Get something good to read on Sunday from Thurston.

Its Excellent Qualities.

Commend to public approval the California liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs. It is pleasant to the eye, and to the taste, and by gentle action on the kidneys, liver and bowels. It cleanses the system effectually, and thereby promoting the health and comfort of all who use it.

Is Disease a Punishment for Sin?

The following advertisement, published for a prominent western patent medicine house would indicate that they regard disease as a punishment for sin:

"Do you wish to know the quickest way to cure a severe cold? We will tell you. To cure a cold quickly, it must be treated before the cold has become settled in the system. This can always be done if you choose to, as nature in her kindness to man gives timely warning and plainly tells in nature's way, that as a punishment for some indiscretion, you are to be afflicted with a cold unless you choose to ward it off by prompt action. The first symptoms of a cold, in most cases, is a dry, loud cough and sneezing. The cough is soon followed by a profuse watery expectoration and the sneezing by a profuse watery discharge from the nose. In severe cases there is a thin white coating on the tongue. What to do? It is only necessary to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in double doses every hour. That will greatly lessen the severity of the cold and in most cases will effectually counteract it, and cure what would have been a severe cold within one or two days time. Try it and be convinced." 50 cent bottles for sale by J. B. McCullaugh, Druggists.

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman of same place, says: "Find th Electric Bitter to be the best Liver and Kidney medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c. a bottle at Wm. Pinniger's drug store.

Quick Work.

From the Des Moines Mail and Times.

A few days ago while sitting in Elder Bros.' drug store at Tingley, Iowa, Mr. T. L. Dyer, a well known citizen, came in and asked for something for a severe cold which he had. Mr. Elder took down a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and said: "Here is something I can recommend. It commands a large sale and gives genuine satisfaction. It is an excellent preparation and cheap." Mr. Dyer purchased a bottle, and the next day when we saw him he said he was much better, and the day following appeared to be entirely restored. This is a specimen of the effectiveness of this preparation. For sale by J. B. McCullough, druggist.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Micheal Curtain, Plainfield, Ill. makes the statement that she caught cold which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption: she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles, found herself sound and well, now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was.—Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at W. Pinniger's Drug Store, large bottles 50c. and $1 00.

Spring Medicine.

Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills on account of their mild action are especially adapted for correcting Spring disorders, such as impure blood, tired brain and aching and worn out body. They act promptly on the Liver and Kidneys; drive out all impurities from the blood, and malaria from the system. Only one pill for a dose. Try them this Spring. Sold at 25 cents a box by S. J. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier gives pure rich blood, and vitalizes and strengthens the whole body. $1.00 per bottle.

A Sure Cure for Piles.

Itching Piles are known by moisture, like perspiration causing intense itching when warm. This form, as well as blind, bleeding and protruding, yield at once to Dr. Bosanko's Pile remedy, which acts directly on the parts affected, absorbs tumors, allays itching and effects a permanent cure. 50c. KILRAIN-GODFREY FIGHT.

The San Francisco Sensation of Last Night.

Jake Kilrain of Baltimore and George Godfrey (colored) of Boston met in a finish fight at the California Athletic Club in San Francisco last night for a $5,000 trophy. Kilrain, who had been trained by Muldoon, was in fine form. Betting ranged from $100 to $60, and $100 to $75 in his favor. Godfrey had also trained assiduously for the meeting and much of the difference in the odds placed on the men was due solely to the fact that Kilrain backers were more numerous.

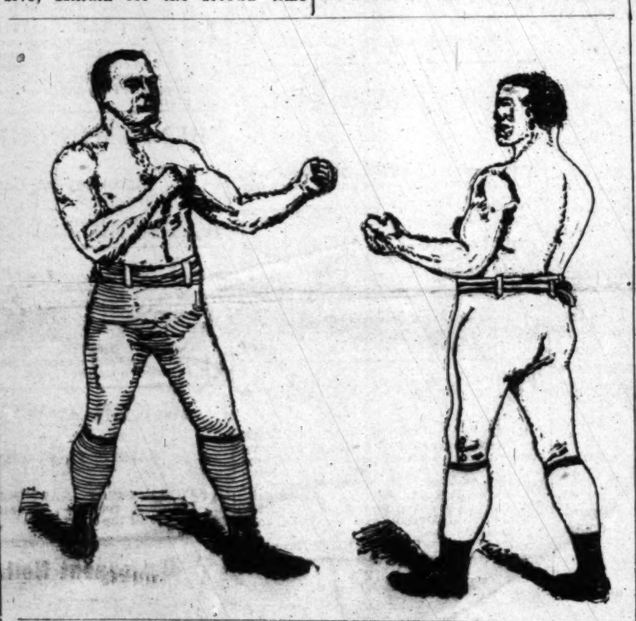

At 9:25 P. M. Kilrain entered the ring, followed closely by Godfrey. Kilrain was seconded by Muldoon and Jim Hall, the Australian, with Ernest Roeber as bottle-holder. Godfrey's seconds were Frank Steele and the latter's brother, Jack White. Peter Jackson officiated as bottle holder. Kilrain weighed about 192 pounds to Godfrey's 174. Time was called at 9:52. Godfrey lay well back with his left extended, Kilrain standing easily. The men came together with rights on ribs; a couple of clinches followed; Kilrain led left for the ear but was countered by Godfrey; Kilrain got in both hands on his face, but the force of the blows was lost by Godfrey breaking ground. The men came together again and exchanged a number of blows for the head.

Second round—Kilrain led lightly on Godfrey's shoulder, he seemed disposed to rush matters, while the Bostonian exercised more science and stopped several ugly leads. Kilrain got a right on his ear and closed the round by a rush which was crosscountered by Godfrey.

Third round—Kilrain landed a good left on Godfrey's cheek. The latter rushed, falling short. Some feinting followed at long range. The round closed with a lead and stop by each man. Kilrain had a light bruise under his left eye.

Fourth round—Kilrain swung a powerful left which fell short and the men clinched. Godfrey played a right for the ribs, as usual, while Kilrain guarded his head. Godfrey cleverly ducked a wicked left, but soon after caught a punch in the chest which caused him to groan.

Fifth round—Godfrey led for the head, but falling short clinches followed, and Godfrey taking the aggressive, Kilrain for the second time caught Godfrey's head under his arm, but cries from the spectators caused him to relinquish his purpose of doing damage. Godfrey was apparently much the cooler of the two, and in the infighting he displayed much good humor.

Sixth round—Godfrey again dodged a wicked left hand swing, and Kilrain caught him with the left on the cheek several times. Godfrey countered on the ribs. Godfrey's left temple was slightly cut.

Seventh round—Godfrey essayed several straight two-handed drives at the Baltimorean, who took his time about responding, but eventually scored a left hander.

From the eighth to the thirteenth round the fight progressed slowly, though there was several sharp exchanges, in one of which Godfrey received a blow which seemed to daze him.

There was some sharp fighting during the next half hour, Godfrey receiving most of the punishment. In the 16th round Godfrey was almost knocked out, but he continued to fight gamely, and in the 23d round the contest was apparently no nearer to a close than half an hour before.

Forty-fourth round—Kilrain forces Godfrey all around the ring, but is unable to knock him out. Both men were very weak, and towards the end of this round Godfrey was knocked out.

Arrived Safely in New York.

A telegram received by W. R. Chamberlain of the Riverside Hotel, from Mr. O. J. Geer, announces the safe arrival in New York of himself and son and Dr. Patterson, and says further, as follows: "Willis is better this morning, and remembering with much gratitude the kindness of all his friends in Reno."

INTEREST ON STATE LANDS.

The Question Intelligently Presented by a Candid Writer.

Editor Gazette: The editorial under this head in Friday's Journal argues for the passage of a bill which will reduce the interest on land contracts to at least 4 per cent. In the history of any county may be found the bad effect of laws and commercial usages which allow a man or a number of men to hold many hundreds of acres of land in one body, and more especially can this be said of Nevada, where the number of acres under one management can be counted by thousands, not hundreds. In many cases capital invested is expected to realize a reasonable profit to the one who invests, and if this is found to be a poor investment on the part of land holders, let the land revert to the State and again be sold. There are thousands of people in crowded cities or in the thickly settled east who would be glad to embrace the opportunity of acquiring a home under the laws of our State, the cost of which does not exceed $1.25 per acre and having a long period of years, at the low rate of six per cent per annum, in which to pay for the same.

Take the land which has been sold under this act already, and I will venture to say fifty per cent of it is such as would, with care and cultivation, produce as well as the best land in the Truckee Meadows, for the lands are not selected at random, but carefully surveyed and selected for the natural advantages and under this head may be classed, lands bordering on mountain and valley streams, natural meadow lands and, in fact, the cream of the State. Does the holding of these lands, for the purpose of grazing cattle, benefit the State as would the advent of a sturdy farmer who tills his 80 or 160 acres of soil? Our opinion would be no, but as opinions differ, we would like to hear others criticise our stand in the matter, holding as we do, that the rate of interest should remain as stipulated in the contract, six per cent, and a law making the number of acres to be applied for by any one person 160, instead of 640 as at present, would be a step in the right direction.

The holding for so many acres of land, solely for the grazing of stock, is not to the interest or welfare of the State, but on the contrary, retards its growth and encourages the retrograding process.

Take as an example, the losses of the winter of 1889-90. Had the usual care and prudence of the farmer, who tills his little farm, been exercised in the storing of hay and providing for the herds on a thousand hills, would our State be prostrated and feel the touch of poverty which is now making itself felt in our midst.

The true process is for each person who engages in the pursuit of a business to have just what he can handle and handle well, and not this inflated idea, that to have thousands of cattle and other stock, allowing them to roam the hills in summer, making little or no provision for the winter and if the elements kill one-half or more, count it cheaper than to feed and care for them as they ought. This, we claim, is poor philosophy, and in the end the result will justify my remarks—that to own a little and handle it on a conservative basis, is the true prosperity. Then the revenue which is derived from this source is for our public schools, the advancement of which is the ground-work of State and national prosperity, and the of itself, in view of the fact that the rate of interest is not exorbitant, is sufficient to prejudice the minds of the people against the supposed reform. Yours, Henry B. Rule.

THE PALACE DRY GOODS HOUSE.

To Remove to the Large Store in the Gazette Building.

The Gazette is pleased to note the progressive enterprise shown by the proprietors of the Palace Dry Goods House. They are awaiting the completion of the extensive repairs and changes that are being made to the elegant large store on the ground floor of the Gazette building, and as soon as the changes are completed they will move into their new quarters. They are selling off the old stock at greatly reduced prices, and will open out in the new store with a new and complete stock. The remodeling of the Gazette building is being done in a manner to enable the proprietors of the Palace Dry Goods House to exhibit to the best advantage this new and stylish stock. Two large plate glass windows are being placed in the iron front, and a new sidewalk has been laid in front of the store. The interior is being entirely overhauled and remodeled in a most attractive manner and it will be when completed the most elegant dry goods store in the State.

Pleasant Words.

The Genoa Courier of yesterday says: The Reno Gazette has added a pictorial department to its office and proposes to appear as an illustrated journal in future. As illustrations are fast gaining ground in the American press, the Gazette is up with the times.

THE MOHAVE DESERT.

A Strange Scene of Cactus and Coyotes, and a Wierd One by Moonlight.

It was eighteen years ago that this writer first viewed the Mohave desert from the eastern outlet of Walker's Pass through the Sierras. Being familiar with the characteristics of this inter-mountain region, it was not a matter of much surprise to look upon the sterility presented, but coming through an interesting section of the Sierras, past well-cultivated farms and through lands of fertility and productiveness, the first sight of the desert exhibited such striking contrast that the change was duly noted in the diary that was a constant companion in travel, and referring to it now revives memories of that lonely ride. The view was noted in the following words:

Nearing the mouth of the canyon on the eastern slope, a change was noted in the air and climate, the roads and the surroundings. It was no longer California. Instead of the giant oaks of the western slope, with the rushes and grasses of the glades, the eye rested upon bare hills, stunted sagebrush and occasional specimens of the grim and forbidding bayonet cactus.

NO RILLS NOR RIVULETS

Of crystal waters, but dry, sandy washes instead, with the slate pebbles glistening like bleached bones in the desert. The road changed from a springy alluvium bed to the grating, rasping sands, that nature had seemingly left unfinished centuries ago. One felt at once the presence of the sterile decolation of the Mojave desert, which grim and silent stretched away into hazzy distance toward the Colorado, the land of cactus and Apaches, which lures lost wanderers to unknown fate. Right there should be written Dantes' inscription, "Who enters here leaves hope behind."

The moon was rising through a misty haze directly ahead, and the spectre-like shadows of distant mountains, stretched in wavering lines across the gray surface of the desert, in startling imitation of gentle, rippling water. If ever the expression "still life" was appropriate it seemed at that instant a vivid reality. And in the midst of what was a most entrancing sight, there suddenly appeared an that looked like headless men, with outstretched arms rising in rigid silence out of the earth, all around and beyond us. It was as weird and ghostly a spectacle as ever the eye witnessed, and it required a nearer approach and closer inspection to solve the mysterious scene. We had emerged from the canyon, just at the rising of the moon, into the midst of a forest of bayonet cactus. They grow the same size from the root to the tips of the few branches, that stand out from the main trunk like the arms of gibbets, and which give them, in the moonlight, the looks of hideous, headless monsters. The picture of Plutonion deviltry was increased by the shadowy movements of vagabond coyotes that were gliding in silent stealth through the ghostly forest. And when informed that this section was then the favorite rendezvous of the Mexican bandit Chaviz and his gang, who roamed from here to Elizabeth Lake, and toward Los Angeles, it quickened the pulse and banished sleep for the remainder of that night's ride. Since then the cactus forest has been located, with the purpose of making it into paper by the usual process, and what seemed to us a spot of wierd romance, is to be converted into prosy fact.

The Board of Trade.

During the month there has been considerable correspondence with parties inquiring for lands. J. B. Williams of Tennessee wants to find a place for ten families, and others talk of coming to Nevada.

Some matters of interest before the Legislature have been absorbing the time of members, among them a storage bill and other bills concerning rights to water and land. A bill was introduced through the courtesy of Senator Sawyer to permit the State printing office to do some printing for the Board, as it does for the Agricultural Society, etc. It seems to meet with general approval.

Mr. Marks the colonization agent, who says he can send all the settlers that can be taken care of, has not arrived yet, but is expected inside of a moth.

Senator Gallagher has expressed a willingness to place a large lot of land in Mason Valley at the disposal of settlers, and they can either buy or lease. If they are not able to start he would furnish teams and tools for a while.

In response to inquiries from Mason Valley and elsewhere for sugar beet seed, the Manager wrote to Mr. Dyer and received the following reply:

Alvarado, March 12, 1891.

R. L. Fulton, Esq.—Dear Sir: You can obtain the best varieties of imported beet seed of the Alameda Sugar Co. of Alvarado, Cal., for twenty cents a pound. If you order, tell them to send you several varieties so that you may ascertain that best adapted to your locality. Mention Depper, Kline, Wanzlaben, Imperial Rose and three or four others of the best varieties. Or, if you send the order to me, I will select the varieties that I think most suitable. Truly yours,

E. H. Dyer.

Serious Danger

Threatens every man, woman or child living in the region of country where fever and ague is prevalent, since the germs of malarial disease are inhaled from the air and are swallowed from the water of such a region. Medicinal safeguard is absolutely necessary to nullify this danger. As a means of fortifying and acclimating the system so as to be able to resist the malarial poison, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is incomparably the best and most popular. Irregularities of the stomach, liver and bowels encourage malaria; but these are speedily rectified by the Bliters. The functions of digestion and secretion are assisted by its use, and a vigorous as well as regular condition of the system promoted by it. Constitution and physique are thus defended against the inroads of malaria by this matchless preventive, which is also a certain and thorough remedy in the worst cases of intermittent and remittent fevers.

A LOVELY WOMAN

overheard one say of her, "By heaven she's painted!" "Yes," retorted she indignantly, "and by heaven only!" Ruddy health mantled her cheek, yet this beautiful lady, once thin and pale, and suffering from a dry, hacking cough, night-sweats, and spitting of blood, seemed destined to fill a consumptive's grave. After spending hundreds of dollars on physicians, without benefit, she tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery; her improvement was soon marked, and in a few months she was plump and rosy again,—a perfect picture of health and strength.

This wonderful "Golden Medical Discovery," now world-famed as a remedy for consumption, which is really lung-scrofula, is not only an acknowledged remedy for that terribly fatal malady, when taken in time and given a fair trial, but also for all forms of Scrofulous, Skin and Scalp Diseases, as White Swellings, Feversores, Hip-joint Disease, Salt-rheum, Tetter, Eczema, Boils, Carbuncles, Erysipelas and kindred ailments. All scaly, crusty, itching, troublesome eruptions yield readily to its curative powers. It invigorates the liver, enriches the blood and promotes all the bodily functions. It is the only liver, blood and lung remedy, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee that it will do all that it is recommended to, or money paid for it will be refunded.

THE COLUMBIAN EGG.

Another Theory of How the Feat Was Accomplished.

The Columbian Exposition has brought the egg story into prominence again; and in order that it may not entirely divert public attention from the main object of the world's fair, and as an act of justice to the memory of Columbus himself, I think it is time to give the story an eternal rest, writes M. M. Trumbull, in Opera Court. The fable runs that the problem of standing an egg on end having been submitted as a puzzle to Columbus, he solved it instantly by tapping the egg on the table, and breaking the end of it just enough to make a flat basis on which it stood firm, without a quiver. According to the legend, the philosophers who thought to confound the great mathematician by such a simple question, accepted the solution as correct, acknowledged themselves defeated, and if there was a bet upon it, as I suppose there was, gave up the money. It is not a grateful duty to abolish popular myths, but this, like so many better ones, must go.

Evidently, the Columbian egg story is a fiction, because if true, Columbus must have been a clumsy juggler, and the breaking of the egg a confession of defeat, an acknowledgment that the problem could not be solved without violating its first implied condition, namely, that the egg, uninjured, should stand alone and unsupported on a level surface. Breaking the egg, so far from solving the problem, was an evasion of its terms, like untying the Gordian knot by cutting it into pieces, which was not untying it at all. Columbus might just as well have stuck the egg upright into the salt upon the table, and called that a solution of the puzzle. To make an egg stand upright on a plane surface is not a difficult feat; I have known how to do it for more years than I care to mention, but I have not revealed the secret, fearing that unprincipled men might use it for betting purposes and win great fortunes with it; but in the Chicago Tribune I find the ancient fiction served up again for the benefit of a correspondent who, being in possession of a print of Hogarth's picture of Columbus and the egg, wanted to know the meaning and the moral of the picture. Rather than endure this any longer I will now give the Columbian secret away.

One day when I was a boy at school we had for a reading lesson the story of Columbus and the egg. In my class was a little Irish boy about my own age whose name was Jerry Grady, and when school was out for noon Jerry said to me: "Did ye mind that sthory about Columbus and the egg? Sure that's not the way the thrick was done at all, at all. Come wid me and I'll show ye how Clumbus done it." Now it so happened that Jerry's mother kept chickens, and when we reached the house he had no trouble in finding a fresh egg. First putting a clean plate on the table, Jerry took the egg and shook it violently for some seconds or until the yelk and the white were thoroughly mixed, like a compound of milk and water. Then, after holding the egg upright on the plate until the mixture inside of it had settled quietly into the broad base of it, he withdrew his hand and left the egg standing upright and alone. "There," said he, "that's the way Columbus done it," and I have no doubt it was, for I have often done it myself that way, and anybody else can do it. My object in correcting this bit of history is to set Columbus right before the world and to rescue him from the suspicion that he was ignorant of the easy, scientific and purely mechanical solution of the egg problem. The reason why an egg will not stand on end is that its contents are not balanced either in weight or place, but after they are thoroughly mixed the egg will easily recognize its own center of gravity and stand upright like a toy soldier which is made on the same principle.

THE SAMOVAR.

Why the Russian Teakettle Is So Much Superior to Ours.

A samovar, the distinctively Russian utensil for heating water to make tea, when in brass or nickle, of small size, but large enough for family use, costs sixteen dollars. In Russia the samovar is as common a household utensil as is our teakettle. The superiority of the samovar over our teakettle is due to the greater rapidity with which water is heated in it, says the New York Tribune. A little brand of charcoal is started in the section in the center designated for this purpose, and the water around it is heated much more rapidly than it can be in the teakettle, exposed to the fire only at the bottom; but if the mistress of the house could see that the teakettle is freshly filled, and would use the water at the moment it boils, as delicious tea could be made with a teakettle as with a samovar. The Russian lady, it must be remembered, does not intrust the important part of the tea making, the boiling of the water, to a servant. She has this done before her in a samovar, and thus ensures the perfection of her tea. She is, therefore, not called upon to waste words and patience with a domestic, who in answer to your inquiries as to "whether the kettle is boiling," invariably replies: "It have boiled." As though water that had once been boiled was, therefore, fit for tea making, even if it has been reduced to lukewarm temperature since! No amount of instruction will ever eradicate from the mind of the average servant the idea that water that has boiled is therefore fit for tea; and that you are over-fastidious to require that it shall be boiling at the time the tea is made, and that it should not have been boiled before

A Buddhistic Encyclopædia.

A work of great historical interest and peculiar value will shortly be deposited in the British Museum. It will come, says the New York Commercial, through the Asiatic Society of Bengal, which has succeeded in procuring it under somewhat singular circumstances. Through the agency of a native emissary, and after many years' correspondence, the society has secured from Thibet a copy of the "Jangym," a monster encyclopædia of Thibetan Buddhism. It comprises two hundred and twenty-five volumes, each of which is two feet long by six inches thick. Three thousand rupees formed the price for the work, which was formerly in the possession of a Buddhist monastery in Thibet.

THE CAROLINE ISLANDS.

They Have Been Christianized and Civilized Mainly by American Missionaries.

It is a fact that the American missionaries in the Caroline islands are discriminated against by the Spanish authorities. In 1852 the American Board of Foreign Missions sent out several missionaries to Christianize the islands of this section of the Pacific ocean, at that time unclaimed by any foreign state and but little known except to hardy New England whaling sailors, who have found in them a source of supplies for their ships during their long cruises in hunting whales from Cape Horn to the Arctic ocean.

These missionaries, after many struggles against the heathenism of the natives of the islands, at last gained a foothold and then steadily advanced, until now the entire islands hereabout may be truly said to be as thoroughly Christianized (not civilized) as any of the countries inhabited by the white race, writes a New York Times correspondent. The work of these missionaries has been almost wonderful. They have built churches and schools, have reduced the native dialect to writing and instructed the children in books printed in the native tongue; induced the natives to live in villages and respect one another's rights and property; have raised the standard of morality and established the binding marriage ceremony, and have educated the natives so that the rudimentary branches are well known by the mass of the people, and the English language has become almost as much used as the native tongues.

In return for all this the love of the natives for their missionary friends is very great. They allow themselves to be governed and directed by the missionaries without comment, looking up to them as being always right and acknowledging the authority of missionaries above all others.

BOTH SEXES DRESS ALIKE.

Little in Attire to Distinguish Annam Men from Women—Mirrors in the Hat.

At Annam, an empire occupying the eastern portion of the Indo-Chinese peninsula, with a population of 15,000,000, men and women wear their hair in the same way and dress almost alike, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Like the man, the woman wears the turban, a long tunic, wide, loose trousers and a bright sash, the ends falling below the knees. The physiognomy is almost the same, as the men are beardless and have their hair done up like the women.

The only clew to distinguish them is the ear-rings and finger rings worn by women only. The ear-rings are like double shirt studs, and among the lower orders are of colored glass.

The wives and daughters of mandarins alone are allowed to wear gold jewelry. The rings are of spiral wire, fitting tight and standing out to some height. Some women of the upper class wear also necklaces of strings of gold or silver beads.

The hat of the woman is monumental. It is like a large barrel cover, three-quarters of a yard in diameter. Six or seven silk cords as thick as a quill are fastened on each side, and when worn fall down below the waist.

Where the ends are fastened to the hat on each side is a huge black or brown silk tassel. Some of these hats are artistically made of carefully selected palm leaves and lined with neatly plaited flag leaves. These are expensive, especially when they have chiseled silver clasps at the tassels.

Many women fasten a little round mirror in the hat, before which they arrange their turban when they go to town. The hat is the article most prized by the stylish ladies, and often costs ten and fifteen dollars.

The Test.

A philosopher says that no woman shows that she is truly independent and self-reliant until she enters a restaurant alone, pays for what she eats, and goes out with a look of proud disdain on her face and jumps aboard a street-car without asking the driver to stop.

OUR COLUMN.

These Are the Books

We Are Giving Away.

This book contains 480 pages; is eight and one-half inches long, six inches wide and two inches thick. It is printed on extra heavy paper and is handsomely bound, with embossed cover and gilt-lettered back.

It is different from all other works ever published.

First—It teaches those who have it how to tell what he matter is when a person ets sick.

All similar books tell what to do if you know what the disease is. This book tells you HOW TO DETECT THE DISEASE, and then what to do for it.

No other Book Published does this.

Second—When a person is really attacked by a dangerous disease, it enables you to know the fact, and in such cases its advice is: "Send for a competent physician at once." But in all ordinary cases, such as can be easily cured, it gives full directions for treatment.

Third—It is not confined to the practice used by any one class of physicians; but it gives, separately, and for each disease, the methods used by each of the different schools of medicine, and in ALL CASES the PRESCRIPTIONS ARE MADE by the MOST EMINENT MEN in their respective modes of practice This makes the work specially suited to the needs of every family, no matter what medical school they prefer.

No other Book Published Does this.

TESTIMONIALS:

I have examined the advance sheets of "Our Family Physician" It gives me pleasure to recommend the work as correct in its mode of treatment of disease, and it deserves wide circulation.
Professor in Burnett's Medical College, Chicago. J. F. COOK, M. D.,

After examining the publication "Our Family Physician" I can fully endorse the opinions expressed of its merits by the above gentlemen. R. A. GUNN, M.D.
Professor of the Burnett Medical College.

The book contains a valuable chapter of symptoms, which will aid wonderfully in diagnosing diseases, and the proper remedies are given for Allopathic, Eclectic, Hydropathic and Herbal treatments.

We have a number of the books on hand, and we invite inspection.

There are three chapters in the "Family Physician" which are worthy of special mention, namely, those on "Diseases of Women," "Diseases of Infants" and "Care of the Sick."

The first of these is a model of its kind. It is chaste in language, contains no disgusting pictures for children to happen on and be overcurious about, and taken altogether is the most practical, sensible and straightforward treatise upon this delicate subject that has ever been printed.

This chapter alone is worth many times the cost of the book to every mother, even if it had to be purchased at its regular price.

The other chapters referred to are equally well written and valuable. See "Our Plan" on 4th page.

It is customary with newspapers to give premiums to new subscribers only; but the publishers of the WEEKLY GAZETTE mean to revise this old rule; they intend to do as well, at least, by their old subscribers—those who have stood by the paper in years past, and paid their money for it "right straight along." We propose to show our appreciation of these friends in a substantial manner; and as the premium to be offered is expensive, and as our express object in offering it is to increase our list of subscribers, we will ask every old subscriber who may renew his subscription, thus receiving the valuable premium, to constitute himself a missionary, and thus in securing at least ONE new subscriber. Come, and bring us one new name and get a book that will be of incalculable value to you.

☞The new subscriber also gets a book.

If the book is to be sent out of this office, 20 cents must accompany order to pay postage.
